

PACKAGED DATA MIGRATION SERVICE

Challenges

Getting your new storage system production ready can take time. Installing the equipment, commissioning the system and migrating the data. You've got enough to do just getting the new storage system into production without migrating all of the data by hand.

You'll want to get it into production as quickly as possible and be sure all of your data has been moved to the new system safely and securely. Data migration can be risky and time consuming. You've invested in a new storage system because you value your data so you need to be sure your data is transferred correctly and completely.

Why Choose the Data Migration Service

This is what we do! We know storage and we know how critical your data is! Getting your new storage system into production quickly and migrating the data with the minimum of risk is our speciality. We use our own certified engineers and advanced migration tools to remove risk and make the process fast, safe and simple.

Kick start your storage project with the Data Migration Service from CAE.

You may decide this would be a great time to look at how your data is organised and make changes to enhance the operational benefits of the new platform.

Moving unstructured file data between storage systems is not easy. Solutions such as robocopy or rsync do not scale, they require a lot of effort and constant monitoring to ensure things are going to plan.

There can also be significant impact to the production storage system which is often overlooked. We migrate with no production down time.

Progress is closely monitored every step of the way so we know exactly when you can plan the cut over.
